CONTINENCE CONSUMABLES

Incontinence affects millions of Australians, including the elderly, those with disabilities, individuals recovering from surgery, and people managing medical conditions like prostate issues or bladder dysfunction. Maintaining personal hygiene in these cases is essential, not only for comfort, but also for preventing skin irritation, infection, and loss of dignity.

At TIDDOX, we've developed a comprehensive range of dry and wet incontinence wipes designed for daily use in aged care, hospitals, palliative care, and home settings. Our wipes are soft, ultra-absorbent, and made to support both caregivers and individuals with effective, hygienic solutions to urinary, menstrual, or bowel leakage.

What are Incontinence Wipes?

Incontinence wipes are thick, soft, and absorbent cloths or disposable wipes used to manage accidental leaks. They're designed to provide a quick, discreet, and hygienic method of cleaning and maintaining skin health, especially when dealing with urinary or bowel incontinence.

Unlike ordinary tissues or paper towels, incontinence wipes are made for gentle skin contact, high absorption, and ease of use, often replacing the need for pads or adult diapers in certain situations.
